Assistant Director for Scientific Intelligence

Proposed agreement: CIA - A-2 - T-2

1. Colonel Watson visited OSI on 22 November 1949 for informal discussion, especially with reference to paragraph 2.j. of attached agreement.
2. Copy of agreement was left with us.
3. It appears that the problem is largely within Air Force and between T-2, which is under Air Materiel Command and A-2, which is under Air Operations.
4. We have a definite interest in seeing that T-2 analysts collaborate with ours and that T-2 has representation on appropriate scientific intelligence working committees. T-2 itself has been giving thought to the creation of committees and has done some production of intelligence in the fields of nuclear energy, BW, CW, and the like. It appears to us that the best way to prevent unnecessary duplication and to hook into the circuit the very real capabilities of T-2 in the field of guided missiles, airplane construction, and aerodynamics is to work closely with them committee-wise.
5. A great proportion of the procedural requirements lie within the purview of OCD. +C/O

Rear Admiral R. H. Hillenkoetter
Director of Central Intelligence
2430 E Street, N. W.
Washington 25, D. C.

Dear Hilly:

I have just learned that your office has prepared, apparently at the request of the Weapons Systems Evaluation Group, five studies dealing with various aspects of Soviet defensive air capabilities. I have reference to Intelligence Memoranda 236 through 240, produced by Dr. Machle's office.

I am sure you will agree that the Air Force has a great interest in studies of this nature inasmuch as we have the primary responsibility for the production of Air Intelligence. To the best of my knowledge, we were not even consulted during the preparation of these reports.

The list of CIA publications made available to us does not include your OSI studies, and we therefore became aware of the existence of the referenced Intelligence Memoranda only by accident. This points up another oversight: inadequate dissemination of OSI studies.

Certain parts of these Memoranda are to some extent outdated, and in our mutual effort to produce the best possible intelligence, I am sure you will understand my concern.

Your comments or any action deemed feasible to effect appropriate coordination in such matters will be appreciated.

Sincerely,

C. P. CAMEL
Major General, USAF
Director of Intelligence
